Fund Manager Comments

Healthcare continued its relative outperformance in April compared to other major stock indices. The NAV for the Trust was up 0.6% but came in behind the 1.5% reported for the benchmark (Morgan Stanley Global Healthcare Index). Biotechnology had another very strong month in April, particularly the larger companies, and the underweight in this sub-sector in the Trust was the major cause for relative underperformance. In addition, some of our larger positions – such as Pfizer, Eli Lilly, Teva and Bristol-Myers – were among the laggards in the pharmaceutical sub-sector.

The stock market seems to be climbing the “wall of worry” even though macroeconomic data have deteriorated and are not particularly supportive of strong global growth. The drivers of optimism seem to be the Japanese government’s decision to begin quantitative easing and the hope that the European Central Bank will encourage governments to pursue a fiscal policy focused on growth rather than austerity. As a result, it seems as though investor interest is turning back to more cyclical companies. In the near-term, we see the risk that defensive stocks, such as healthcare, may underperform on a relative basis given the strong run over the last few months.

First quarter results for the large pharmaceutical companies have been pretty uninspiring, with a few companies slightly missing expectations – this has been a catalyst for these stocks to give back some of the recent gains. Over the last three years we have seen some seasonality in healthcare utilisation in the United States with the first quarter of the year being weaker than expected. We believe that this is in part due to the high deductible payments on most healthcare insurance plans. In the early part of the year most minor healthcare expenses are “out of pocket” and so there is a reluctance to visit the doctor. As a consequence, hospital companies have reported weaker than expected patient volumes with a knock-on effect to medical devices and some drug companies.

We have made only a few minor adjustments to positions in the income portfolio in April. In the growth portfolio, we sold our positions in Mylan and Biomarin on the basis of valuation. We also sold our position in Brookdale Senior Living to reduce the exposure to senior living companies – we continue to own Emeritus and Five Star. We have bought back a position in the largest US health insurance company, UnitedHealth – managed care has been a significant underperformer and the valuation looked compelling to us. In addition, we have opened a position in Olympus Corporation. Olympus was rocked by major corporate governance issues in 2011. The company has since changed its management team and replaced a number of board members. Olympus is the global leader in endoscopes used in gastrointestinal procedures – the company launched its first major product platform in seven years in 2012. We believe this new product cycle should help drive margin expansion that should combine with a weakening yen to provide significant earnings growth.

In the near term, we are reasonably cautious on healthcare as investor focus appears to have moved elsewhere. Nevertheless, we continue to believe that fundamentals are solid and that our re-rating investment thesis is still on track.

Benchmarks

The following benchmark index is used: MSCI All Country World Index/Healthcare. These benchmarks are generally considered to be representative of the Global Healthcare market universe. These benchmarks are broad-based indices which are used for comparative/illustrative purposes only and have been selected as they are well known and are easily recognizable by investors. Please refer to www.msibarra.com for further information on these indices. Comparisons to benchmarks have limitations because benchmarks have volatility and other material characteristics that may differ from the fund. For example, investments made for the fund may differ significantly in terms of security holdings, industry weightings and asset allocation from those of the benchmark. Accordingly, investment results and volatility of the fund may differ from those of the benchmark. Also, the indices noted in this presentation are unmanaged, are not available for direct investment, and are not subject to management fees, transaction costs or other types of expenses that the fund may incur. In addition, the performance of the indices reflects reinvestment of dividends and, where applicable, capital gain distributions. Therefore, investors should carefully consider these limitations and differences when evaluating the comparative benchmark data performance. The information regarding the indices are included merely to show the general trends in the periods indicated and is not intended to imply that the fund was similar to any of the indices in composition or risk.

Polar Capital LLP is a limited liability partnership number OC314700. It is authorised and regulated by the UK Financial Conduct Authority ("FCA") and is registered as an investment adviser with the US Securities & Exchange Commission ("SEC"). A list of members is open to inspection at the registered office, 4 Matthew Parker Street, London SW1H 9NP.

Investment managers which are authorised and regulated by the FCA are expected to write to investors in funds they manage with details of any side letters they have entered into. The FCA considers a side letter to be an arrangement known to the investment manager which can reasonably be expected to provide one investor with more favourable rights, which are material, than those afforded to other investors. These rights may, for example, include enhanced redemption rights, capacity commitments or the provision of portfolio transparency information which are not generally available. The Fund and the Investment Manager are not aware of, or party to, any such arrangement whereby an investor has any preferential redemption rights. However, in exceptional circumstances, such as where an investor seeds a new fund or expresses a wish to invest in the Fund over time, certain investors have been or may be provided with portfolio transparency information and/or capacity commitments which are not generally available. Investors who have any questions concerning side letters or related arrangements should contact the Polar Capital Desk at the Administrator on (+353) 1 434 5007 for the Polar Capital Healthcare Opportunities Fund or 0800 3134922 for the Polar Capital Global Healthcare Growth and Income Trust.
